

PROGRAM IS ARRANGED FOR THE FLAG PRESENTATION CEREMONY

Company B Will be Honored at Patriotic Meeting at Coliseum Sunday Afternoon at 2:30.

C. M. YOCUM TO MAKE ADDRESS

Flag Will be Accepted on Behalf of the Company by Captain John H. Kiplinger.

MESS FUND WORK IS STARTED

Committees Are Assigned to Districts and Begin Canvassing—Whole County to be Covered.

The program was announced today for the flag presentation ceremony in honor of Company B next Sunday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock at the Coliseum in the city park.

Captain John K. Gowdy, a veteran of the civil war, will be the honorary chairman of the meeting and Robert E. Mansfield will be the acting chairman. The presentation address will be made by C. M. Yocum and the flag will be accepted on behalf of the company by Captain John H. Kiplinger. An unusual feature of the meeting will be the singing of "The Marseillaise" by Paul Lagrange, a French Canadian, in French, assisted by a large chorus. Mr. Lagrange sings in the choir at the Catholic church.

Since plans have been completed for the flag presentation, some hard ticks are being put in toward raising the Company B mess fund. The city has been districted for the ten finance committees and some of them have already canvassed their territory and met with a ready response from the people. The purpose of the mess fund is to provide little conveniences and luxuries for the company which the government does not supply.

Each committee was given not only a territory in the city, but as well the responsibility of organizing the township for the work. The committees were assigned as follows and given the township designated after their names:

Center of Second street south to corporation line—Frank Wilson and b Denning—Orange township.

Center of Second to center of third—Will M. Sparks and R. L. Tompkins—Ripley township.

Center of Third to center of fourth—R. W. Noyer and Voorhees—Avitt—Anderson township.

Center of Fourth to center of fifth—R. E. Harrold and Charles B. Wilson—Posey township.

Center of Fifth to the center of sixth—E. R. Casady and R. C. Harrold—Jackson township.

Center of Sixth to center of Seventh—L. L. Allen and Cauncey Dun—Union township.

Center of Seventh to center of eighth—A. L. Riggs—Walker township.

Center of Ninth to center of tenth—Will M. Bliss and Charles Knecht—Noble township.

Center of Tenth to the corporation line—G. P. Hunt—Center township—Richand township.

A. F. Hogsett and J. B. Morris—The mess fund must be raised by Sunday. This is the word given out by the committee. The chairman of the committee this morning urged at people who wanted to give, and their donations to the committee, which has their district in charge.

It was pointed out that all of the committees are busy and that they are giving their time to make the mess fund just as other committees have in other war work here.

STRUCK BY AN I. & C. CAR

William Barlow, 61 years old, died yesterday at his home in Waldron from injuries sustained last Tuesday when struck by an Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction car. Erysipelas and pneumonia developed from the injuries.

On December 30, 1875 he married Miss Elsie Parson, who survives him. The Rev. John T. Scull, Sr., performed the ceremony and it was the first marriage at which he ever officiated. The Rev. Mr. Scull will preach the funeral.

Within Hour After Being Notified of Appointment, Dr. L. M. Green Is Ordered to Columbus

WILL EXAMINE RECRUITS

Within an hour after Dr. Lowell M. Green received his commission this morning as first lieutenant in the medical corps he was ordered to Indianapolis preparatory to going to Columbus, Indiana, to conduct examinations for the National guard company there.

Lieut. Green is to be a member of the field hospital connected with the new Fourth Regiment under the command of Major Carey. With the receiving of his commission Lieut. Green can now examine recruits for Company B, and it will not be necessary to send an examining officer here every time the company has some men ready to be examined. The Columbus company, where he will conduct his first examinations, is a member of the Fourth regiment.

40 CONSUMERS DELINQUENT

Water Will be Turned Off Tomorrow—July 20 Last Day

A list containing forty consumers of city water who have failed to pay their meter bills will likely be turned over to the superintendent of the water and light plant to be turned off tomorrow. July 20 was the last day to pay in order to avoid the penalty, but City Treasurer Stech has been too busy to make out the list and for this reason those who have not paid have thus escaped.

THREE BROTHERS ENROLLED IN CO. B

Virgil Myers, 18, Son of Mr. and Mrs. John Myers, Completes Trio by Enlisting Today

MEN STILL BEING RECRUITED

With the enlistment today of Virgil Myers, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Myers, living north of the city, Company B now has three members of this family enrolled. The other two brothers are George Myers, 19, and William Myers, 21. Capt. Kiplinger said today that this was the second set of three brothers from any one family to enlist. The first was from Connorsville where three brothers named Peters enlisted in the local company.

The regular weekly drill of the company will be held Wednesday night at the city park. Thus far no speaker has been announced. Company B is still recruiting men. Under the orders of Provost Marshal Crowder men can enlist only in the National guard and this only until the local exemption board sends out notices to report for physical examinations.

FAIR TO GIVE 5 PER CENT TO RED CROSS

Board Decides at Meeting Monday Night to Aid in War Plans by Helping County Chapter

WEDNESDAY PATRIOTIC DAY

At a meeting of the Rush County fair board last night it was voted to give the Red Cross five percent of the tickets sold by them. Whether the Red Cross will accept the offer remains to be seen. Since there is to be no stockholders' or family tickets this year, it was believed that the Red Cross could dispose of a large number of single admission tickets. The tickets will be good for any day of the fair.

At the meeting it was also decided to have patriotic day on Wednesday. It is planned to have some prominent man deliver an address at the fair grounds at ten o'clock Wednesday morning. The speaker has not yet been secured. For Riggs was elected a member of the board of directors.

MEETS TWO LOCAL BOYS

Miles S. Cox, while in Washington last Sunday saw Tom Saunders and Clarence Myers, two local boys who enlisted in the marine corps this spring. Both boys were elated to see someone from Rushville and they held a reunion right there. Saunders and Myers have been transferred from Port Royal, S. C., to a training camp in Virginia and were en route there when seen in Washington. Both boys like the life in the marine corps. Myers has lost fifty pounds since leaving here while Saunders has gained fifteen pounds. They expect to be ready for service in France within eight weeks.

Glenwood Youth, Whose Machine Killed Baby, Found Guilty of Violating Speed Laws

TWO MORE CASES TO BE TRIED

Carl Vandiver, age sixteen, of Glenwood, who was driving the machine that killed Mary Ellen Swinford two-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swinford of near Clarksburg, the night of June 24, was fined five dollars and costs by a jury in Squire Kratzer's court late yesterday afternoon. The jury took four ballots and was out about forty minutes. The trial was on the charge of running an automobile in violation of the speed laws. All other things pertaining to the accident were excluded in the trial.

Vandiver appealed the case to the circuit court and the bond was fixed at $200.

John M. Carr is Appointed Major on Governor Goodrich's Military Staff by Governor

MEN WANTED FOR TROOP E

John M. Carr has received a commission from Governor Goodrich as major and aid-de-camp. The commission calls for service in the National Guard of the United States and in the state of Indiana. The commission is signed by Governor Goodrich and Ed Jackson, secretary of state, and attested by Harry B. Smith, adjutant general.

This does not make it impossible for Major Carr to be commissioned to command Troop E of the second squadron of cavalry under Major Davis. Men can be recruited from any place in the state and word is being received from recruits almost daily by Acting Captain Carr.

SHIPPING BOARD MUDDLE SETTLED

Steps to Put End to Delay in Building Merchant Marine Taken by Accepting Resignations

PANAMA CANAL BUILDER GOES

Gen. Goethals and Capt. White Resign and New Members of Board Are Appointed

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 24.—Sweeping steps were taken today by President Wilson to put an end to delay in building America's great merchant marine.

Two resignations—those of Gen. Goethals, manager of the emergency fleet corporation and Capt. White, member of the shipping board—were accepted. Chairman Denman of the shipping board was asked to resign and he responded immediately.

At the same time the president announced the appointment of Edwin N. Hurley, Chicago, as chairman of the shipping board and Admiral Capps, naval constructor, as general manager of the emergency fleet corporation.

Bainbridge Colby, New York, was named in White's place on the board.

"We will start with a clean sheet" the president explained in his letter to Goethals, accepting the Panama canal builder's resignation offer.

It was evident from the promptness with which the president acted in every particular that he had had the house cleaning in mind for several weeks.

The stepping out of the canal builder came as a complete surprise to Washington. It was believed that the president would make one last attempt to mollify the two contending men and get them to work together in the great ship program facing the government.

In appointing White's successor President Wilson had the opportunity to bring to a head action on the building program. White has lined up with Denman and Theodore Brent with the board majority while John Donald and R. B. Stevens have exposed Goethals' course. Reports that Donald had also resigned were denied by him.

At the same time it developed that since Goethals wrote the president offering to step out in the interest of harmony further communications have passed him and Denman, gradually clearing up the differences between them.

White constituted the odd man on the board of directors which gave Denman the balance of power in the controversy respecting Goethals and Denman's ship building proposals.

Canning Parties Planned for Each Friday Afternoon In City

Rushville Food Conservation Committee of Women Considers Project to Sell to Co. B.

FULL MEETING ON SATURDAY

The Rushville committee of the women's food conservation committee of the county is planning to arrange for canning parties in Rushville Friday afternoon of each week during the canning season. If arrangements are completed by tomorrow, the first party will be held this week.

This is in line with the movement among the women of the county to can all of the excess food products in the county. The object is to sell all the food canned to the army at cost and the women's division of the County Defense Council is now conferring with Captain Kiplinger of Company B to this end. Capt. Kiplinger has already interviewed the women on the defense body to learn how big a canning product will be available for his company in the next few weeks. A full meeting of the women's food conservation committee will be held in the director's room of the Peoples National bank next Saturday afternoon at two o'clock to consider the suggestion to can food for the local company.

MUTINEERS TO BE SHOT AS TRAITORS

Russia, Decides on Drastic Steps—Clothing New People's Cabinet With Unlimited Power

PREMIER KERENSKY AT FRONT

Petrograd is Hoping That he Will Again Perform a Miracle With the Wavering Army

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD (U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Petrograd, July 24.—Russia will shoot down as traitors the mutineers in her armies and the German spies in her cities.

Clothed with unlimited power the new people's cabinet was prepared today to invoke measures of bloodshed to stop the route of the south-east armies and to clean out the pest of Germans scattered throughout the nation. A proclamation declaring all who disobey the provincial government's orders, "will be regarded as traitors and cowards" and "shown no mercy" was issued today.

Petrograd is hoping that Premier Kerensky will again perform a miracle at the front. With Tarnopol gone and the Teutonic army pushing forward on a front close to 40 miles the whole of the great Russian line as far north of Tinsk is menaced. Turning of the Russian flank may be attempted. In Petrograd small forces of soldiers and special agents began today a systematic uprooting of the German spy system and a sorting out of all suspects.

The existence of a huge German plot to overthrow the new democracy by a counter revolution was definitely proved today in wholesale arrests in the capital. It was German money that excited the riots last week to treason. Millions have been spent forming the scheme.

Russia's army on the southwest front is in a state of complete disorganization with mutinous soldiers threatening those who oppose them and long lines of deserters straggling to the rear. The morale of the fighters is gone.

It was this grave message received by the government executive committee from the southwest front and just made public here that sent Premier and Minister Kerensky there.

"A fatal crises have occurred in the morale of the troops," a telegram declared. "Most of the military units are in a state of complete disorganization. Their spirit for eventualities has utterly disappeared. The men no longer listen to the exploitation of the comrades, even replying with threats to shoot those who oppose them."

By a vote of 252 to 37 the work-

To The Men Who Wish To Join Some Branch of Service.

I am still able to accept men for Cavalry Troop E. To the men of conscription age, I especially urge to be examined quickly as the time is short for them. To all men I tender a chance to join the service in one of its most spectacular branches. I am able to recruit anywhere in the state, so your chance to join is getting smaller every day. If interested call me at phone 1115, Rushville, or go to any recruiting officer for I. N. G. and tell him you wish to join Troop E.

Various Forms of Potato Cellar or Dugout Explained

The storage of potatoes of the main crop can be accomplished most satisfactorily throughout much of the United States in the dugout pit or potato cellar in some of its various forms of construction, says a recently published Farmers' Bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture, "Potato Storage and Storage Houses." In general, the bulletin says, no attempt is made to store potatoes of the early crop, since usually they are sold for immediate consumption.

While the dugout storage house is in most general use, concrete or masonry houses with frame superstructures are, perhaps, most satisfactory in cold climates. In some sections, especially in the South where drainage is poor, insulated frame structures built entirely above ground must be depended upon.

The primary purposes of storage, it is pointed out, are to protect the tubers from extremes of heat and cold and from light. Account also must be taken of conditions of humidity and ventilation and of the size of the storage pile.

The temperature should be the highest at which potatoes can be maintained firm and ungerminated, and which will at the same time hold fungous diseases in check. Experiments of the department with artificially refrigerated storage indicate that 36 degrees F. is sufficiently low for all practical purposes and that in the earlier portion of the storage season a temperature of 40 degrees F. is just as satisfactory as a lower one except where powdery dry rot infection occurs.

All natural light should be excluded from potato storage houses because when the tubers are exposed to even modified light, they are soon injured for food purposes. A practical rule in regard to humidity, the bulletin already mentioned says, is to maintain sufficient moisture in the air to prevent the wilting of the tubers and at the same time to keep the humidity content low enough to prevent the deposit of moisture on the surface of the tubers.

If potatoes are piled in too large piles they may become over-heated and deteriorate. Six feet is a maximum depth to which to pile tubers in bins, and the area covered by each pile should also be limited. A good plan is to insert ventilated division walls at intervals through the pile or bin. These may be made by nailing relatively narrow boards on both sides of 2 x 4 uprights, 1 inch spaces being left between the boards. General ventilation for the whole storage house usually is accomplished through ventilating shaft in the roof.

The possible ways to store potatoes, says the bulletin, are pits or earth covered piles, in dugout pits or potato storage cellars, in insulated wooden structures, in substantial masonry or concrete houses, and in artificially refrigerated storage houses. The latter two methods are the most expensive. Pitting is the most primitive method of storage, but if properly done on well-drained locations is satisfactory in so far as preservation of the potatoes is concerned. The chief drawback to pitting is that the potatoes are not always easily accessible in the winter.

The dugout pit or potato cellar is probably more widely used than any other type of storage space. Fitted with water-tight roof it is especially popular in the central portion of the United States. In the arid and semi-arid sections a type with sod or dirt roof is in most general use. As a rule, the excavation for the cheaper structures of the dugout pit or cellar type when erected on level or nearly level land does not exceed 3 feet. The soil removed from such an excavation, particularly if the dugout is of any considerable size, is ample for banking the side and end walls and also for the roof. The cost of construction may be greatly modified, according to the character of the location.

involves a deeper excavation and a constant element of risk from a cave-in. In the more expensive and substantial structures the side and end walls are built of concrete.

Insulated frame potato storage houses are not used very extensively. As a rule they are better adapted to southern than to northern climatic conditions. The construction feature of such houses is the thorough insulation of their walls, ceiling, doors and windows. This type of storage house is not to be recommended for northern locations, nor is it advocated for the South except where poor drainage conditions will not permit the use of the dugout or cellar style of house. It is not recommended, because it can not be so economically constructed, nor does it furnish as good a type of storage as the properly ventilated cellar storage house.

The Aroostook type of storage house, with concrete or masonry basement walls and wooden superstructure, seems to be distinctly a product of Maine, and so far as has been observed is not found to any extent outside of the State. It is an expensively constructed house and is almost always located on a sidehill or knoll in order that advantage may be taken of a groundlevel entrance. That such houses have proved satisfactory to the potato grower in Maine is evident from the fact that practically no other style of potato storage house is in use in that State. The artificially refrigerated potato storage house is as yet hardly in existence. The present use of this type of storage house is confined practically to the holding of northern-grown seed potatoes in cold storage for second-crop planting in the South.

THEY REHEARSE PICKET SCENES

Important Suffrage Disturbances in Washington Are All Pre-Arranged Affairs

SEEK PLENTY OF PUBLICITY

Are Always "Pulled Off" When They Are Assured of Getting a Crowd

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 23.—Every militant suffrage disturbance in Washington is planned, rehearsed and staged by the National Woman's Party like the big scene in a movie melodrama. Then it is "put across" on schedule time, when the suffragist captains are sure the newspaper correspondents and camera-men are out, when advance notices have drawn a crowd to the spot and when the vote hunters are sure they will get their money's worth in world-wide publicity.

Miss Alice Paul and Miss Lucy Burns are the stage-managers. They write the scenarios. Mrs. Abbey Scott Baker, Queen of Press Agentesses, commands the army of fair scribes which spreads the startling details and makes sure all newspapers and press associations are kept informed.

When a riot is planned the hour is usually set for 12:30 p. m. or 4:30 p. m. when the necessary spectator and participants will be supplied by crowds of clerks coming from the State, War and Navy building. The militants "show" is planned at their headquarters near the White House. Volunteers crowd around the leaders, anxious to be cast in prominent roles. Mrs. Baker's brigade gets busy. Telephones tinkle in all newspaper offices. The event is announced. The rehearsal completed out sally the women, do their stunts get arrested, get released and return to headquarters.

Then rings the clatter and clasp of typewriters. They batter forth sarcastic descriptions of the scene. And when the dust settles, the patrol wagons cease their clangor and the angry cries of the mobs die away, staring headlines in the newspapers mark the end of the militant's perfect day.

TEARS UP STAMPS TO DO HIS BIT IN WAR

One Man Suggests That This Be Done by Those Who Can't Buy Bonds and Fight

WOULD MEAN $7.30 EACH YEAR

Washington, July 23.—A two-cent-a-day "bit" for would-be patriots who can't fight, buy Liber automobiles urging others to join the bonds or display posters on the army, was suggested to Senator Ashurst of Arizona by Daniel Brown of California.

Brown—a Lusitania survivor wrote from the California home of disabled soldiers—of whom he is one:

"Let everybody who can't fight buy bonds destroy a new two-cent stamp every day. We're all doing it. It means $7.30 a year for the government—almost all clear profit."

Attention Farmers

Grading wheat under U. S. Standards, a law which all grain dealers will have to abide by.

The official grain standards of the United States for wheat were fixed, established, promulgated and published on March 31 by the Secretary of Agriculture, under the authority given in the Grain Standard Act. This act of Congress establishes wheat grades for the entire United States, from the farm to the export terminal. Effective on Indiana wheat July 1, 1917.

Number Two Red Winter wheat shall be cool and sweet, contain not more than thirteen per cent of moisture, shall test not less than fifty-nine pounds per bushel, contain not more than four per cent of damaged kernels, and not more than one per cent of foreign matter.

Number Three Red Winter wheat shall be cool and sweet, contain not more than fourteen per cent moisture, shall have a test weight of at least fifty-seven pounds, shall contain not more than seven per cent of damaged kernels, and not more than two per cent of foreign matter.

Number Four Red Winter wheat shall be cool and sweet, contain not more than fourteen per cent moisture, shall have a test weight of at least fifty-five pounds. Shall contain not more than ten per cent damaged kernels, not more than one per cent heat damage, and not more than four per cent foreign matter.

Number Five Red Winter wheat may be musty or sour, contain not more than fifteen per cent of moisture, test not less than 53 pounds per bushel. May contain not more than fifteen per cent damaged kernels, not more than three per cent heat damage and not more than six per cent foreign material.

Dockage includes sand, dirt, weed seeds, weed stems, chaff, straw, grain other than wheat, and any other foreign material which can be removed readily from the wheat by the use of appropriate sieves cleaning devices, or other practical means suited to separate the foreign material present; also undeveloped, shriveled and small pieces of wheat kernels necessarily removed in properly separating the foreign material. The quantity of dockage shall be calculated in terms of percentage based on the total weight of the grain including the dockage. The percentage of dockage so calculated shall be stated in terms of whole per centum and half per centum. A fraction of a per centum when equal to, or greater than a half, shall be treated as a half, and when less than a half shall be disregarded. The percentage of dockage so determined and stated shall be added to the grade designation.

For a full copy of the Official Standards write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., or to your Congressman.

It will be seen that the requirements of grading are a trifle more strict. Dirty wheat, or wheat that is even slightly damp, cannot grade either number two or three in any market. It rests primarily with the farmer to see that the grain is threshed dry, and is properly cleaned. Dockage rules for dirty wheat are very explicit.

The only time to get rye out of wheat thoroughly is while the grain is standing. More than one per cent of rye prevents any wheat grading number two. One-tenth of one per cent makes it unfit for seed. Cockle is still worse and must be removed, if at all, before harvest.

REFUTE STORY OF THEIR DROWNING

Rue Webb Denies He's the "Victim" And Carl Webb is Found to be Very Much Alive

LATTER AT BOY SCOUTS CAMP

Rue Webb denied this morning that he had been drowned. Not succeeding in drowning him, rumor tried his hand at drowning Carl Webb, a brother, who is at Laurel with the Boy Scouts of this city who are on an outing. After Rue Webb said it wasn't so about him being drowned, some semblance of truth was lent to the story about Carl because he was known to be at a camp where swimming would be one of the main diversions.

But Mr. Rumor's batting average was further reduced when a telephone message received from Laurel said that no one at the Boy Scouts camp had been drowned and that they were all very much alive this morning since they had just started out on a hike.

STATE FAIRS WILL HELP CONSERVATION

Tender to Government Services and Appliances as Food Training Camps This Fall

CO-OPERATION TO BE TAUGHT

Washington, July 23.—Representatives of the American Association of Fairs and Expositions, in convention at Washington have tendered to the Government through the Secretary of Agriculture the services and appliances of the State fairs as food-training camps to promote food production, food conservation, effective marketing, live stock production, and more efficient agriculture. A. L. Sponsler, Hutchinson, Kansas, as president of the association, at a meeting at the Department of Agriculture, pointed out that these fairs annually have an attendance of fifteen to twenty million people, and stated that the association was ready to set aside as many of the fair activities as possible to bring the Government's programs of food conservation and production to the attention of this audience, and to demonstrate methods of cooperating effectively in national measures.

Representatives of the department,

The Y. M. C. A. at Fort Benjamin Harrison

Using Outdoor Writing Tables—Building No. 2

Fort Benjamin Harrison, July 23.—The State Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association holds their annual out-of-doors meeting here today, inspecting the three army Association buildings.

J. Quincy Ames, executive secretary at the Fort Y. M. C. A., formerly secretary of the South Bend Association, reported what he and his fifteen associates have been doing since the opening of the Reserve Officers' Training Camp, May 15. "There are now," he said, "about 13,000 men here. Two big tents were erected and served as headquarters for about a month until our buildings were ready, the first two being dedicated July 1 and the last one yesterday." Mr. Ames presented an ordinary week's program in one of the buildings:

Sunday: Church services at 10 o'clock; men's Bible classes, 3 to 4; song service at 7; dramatic and ethical moving pictures at 8.

Monday and Thursday evenings: Conversational French classes, for which 500 men have signed up, after which are athletic "stunts."

Tuesday evening: Moving pictures from 8 to 9.

Wednesday evening: Entertainment and refreshments by the Indianapolis Church Federation.

Friday evening: Illustrated travelogues.

Saturday evening: Comedy moving pictures and "stunts" by local talent.

From morning to night every day the men stream into these social centers to borrow athletic equipment, to play the piano or victrola, have a quiet talk with a secretary if lonesome or blue, or to write a letter home, a wagon load of mail going from these buildings every day. The secretaries visit the hospital daily, and the rifle range also, where hundreds are held all day, waiting their turn.

General Edwin F. Glenn said recently in dedicating Building No. 1: "I have had considerable experience with the Y. M. C. A. in the army both at home and abroad, in Porto Rico and the Philippines. I have found that it always follows the flag." Many of the regulars here have used the Association club houses on the Canal Zone, as well as on the border, and are not surprised when informed that they will find the "Red Triangle" well organized and equipped overseas. Commodious buildings have been secured in London and in Paris, besides many other centers "somewhere in France" being prepared by the advance guard of thirty secretaries sent with the first expeditionary forces. From 1,500 to 2,000 secretaries will be required to carry out this greatest task ever undertaken by the Association, and nearly five million dollars will be required before the end of 1917, toward which amount Indiana has subscribed nearly $170,000—$25,000 more than her allotment.

with the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture, pointed out to the association several important directions in which the fairs can be made more directly to serve the Nation in the present emergency.

CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Cal., July 24.—The case of Rena Mooney, accused of complicity in the bomb plot here a year ago, was in the hands of the jury late this afternoon.

On July 22, 1916, while thousands were gathered in a demonstration for "preparedness" a bomb explosion at Stuart and Market streets, killed ten people and injured scores of others.

The crime sent a wave of horror throbbing through the country. Charges of murder were placed against:

Thomas J. Mooney—a music teacher; Warren K. Billings, member of the shoe cutters union; Edward Nolan, member of the machinists union and Israel Weinberg, jitney driver.

Billings was convicted and sentenced to life in prison.

Mooney was tried next, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

Mrs. Mooney was the third to go to trial. Her case was taken up on May 21. Developments which had focused new attention on the cases.

F. E. Rigall of Grayville, Ill., a few weeks before Mooney was to go to the gallows, charged F. C. Oxman, wealthy Oregon cattleman, with attempting to persuade him to give false testimony against Mooney. Oxman's testimony had been vital in Mooney's conviction. The appellate court has been ordered to grant Mooney a new trial.

During the weeks of Mrs. Mooney's trial, few connected with either side escaped the thrusts, charges and counter charges of the attorneys and labor leaders. The prosecution held Mrs. Mooney and the four other defendants planned the patriotism typified in the preparedness parade; that Warren Billings, Mooney and Mrs. Mooney were driven to Stuart and Market streets by Israel Weinberg in his jitney bus and placed the suitcase containing the infernal machine, on the side walk there.

Harley L. Austen of south of New Salem is in St. Vincent's hospital in Indianapolis recovering from the effects of an operation on his left foot. He was left a cripple seventeen years ago from the effects of infantile paralysis. He was four years old when afflicted with the disease.

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to Charles Sparks of Indianapolis and Miss Emma Duke of Glenwood.

Farmers and Food Control

An illuminating side light on the food situation is contained in some expressions inserted in the Congressional Record recently by Senator Smith of Michigan. These were from farmer's organizations and individual farmers, and they without exception endorsed the food control measures before congress.

These expressions give us a pretty clear idea as to whence come the present panic prices. We are told with great uncton that this is the first time in our history that the farmer has received for his products what they were really worth.

But let us see. What is the object of food control? Whence comes the insistent demand? Plainly, the demand is the direct result of food prices that are out of all proportion to wages and to prices in every other line. Is it reasonable to believe that if the farmers were receiving anything like the present retail prices—minus, of course, a reasonable per cent of middlemen's profit—that they would be not only willing but anxious to kill the goose that lays the golden egg?

The plain truth is, the farmer is not benefited by the present high prices of food in any degree to recompense him for what he is injured by extravagant prices in other lines. He is paying vastly more for every purchase he makes, from a plow point to a tractor engine. What he gains from his profits on his sales of food stuffs is about offset by the enormous increase in the cost of everything he must buy to operate his farm. This the farmers know, and this is why they are, almost without exception, heartily in favor of government food control—a control which will establish a minimum as well as a maximum price.

The speculating food pirates will have to hunt some other scapegoat for their sins instead of the farmer and his "interests."

The Day After

The "day after" is very expressive combination of words. It means something to every person who has taxed his or her energies either in the pursuit of pleasure or of the elusive dollar. America has been keyed up to high tension since last Friday morning when the big draft drawing began. The after-effects are just now beginning to be felt and America is experiencing the results of a big "nerve-jag."

It was an epoch-making thing—this drawing of ten million men to determine the order of their service for their country. Some idea of the tension to which the whole country arose and the sudden inflation afterwards is expressed in the masterful description of the room in which the drawing took place, which was written "the day after" by George Martin, a staff correspondent of the United Press:

No stony visaged faro king at Monte Carlo ever dealt a more dispassionate game than Provost Marshal General Crowder and his staff in their great all-day and all-night gamble with the lives of ten million men.

Jaded and worn, they turned from their task as cloudy dawn gathered across the Potomac. Nor was the sun far up when they met today to check up the proceeds of their sixteen hour's play.

Strewn with fragments of the broken pellets which told the fate of America's boys, this history-making room this morning was a wreck.

At the beginning it presented a never-to-be-forgotten scene.

The great blackboards with their fateful digits blocked the far end of the room in an inverted V. Above them a glittering crystal chandelier, brilliantly lighted despite a brilliant sun pouring through the cathedraled windows.

Today beneath the chandelier, the long flat table where Crowder and his men sat facing the number bowl was deserted.

Before this on a low mahogany pedestal with four blocky, ebony legs, sat the great glass jar, gaping and empty, filched of its capsuled secrets.

Beyond lay the jumble of chairs where sat the personnel of house and senate military affairs committees and to the right, across a narrow aisle, the long wide table where half a hundred members of the press worked feverishly long, long hours to tell the world the story of what had happened there.

Amid the debris, crumpled and torn, reposed the film of heavy brown paper, which, nipped to the belled mouth of the glass globe, had held its secret so close.

Beside it lay the tough white cord and next to that, half hidden under a mass of scribbled note sheets, lay the wooden soup ladle which had stirred the ebony pellets in the bowl. Its blade was splintered and the tiny rosette of red, white and blue baby ribbon which clung to its hilt so gaily at the dawning was crumpled and soiled.

That ladle—how many thousands of men it had scooped from the bottom to within an ace of the first call only to send them tumbling to the bottom again with another whirl of its blade.

Vast and deep as some oaken doored room in a castle of Tuscany, garishly decorated as a palace of wonders at a village street fair, this great deserted "drawing" room, was silent today, save for the whacking of unmindful janitors' brooms against the baseboards.

Jailing traitors and alien enemies is quite proper and should be done in every case, but we'd all like to see the casses put to work and made to earn their keep. Taxing loyalty to feed disloyalty does not appeal to us.

It is becoming apparent to any school boy that the more congress talks about food control the less it knows of what it is talking about.

The circumference of the earth is said to be 25,000,000 miles. Who'll join us on a hike?

Yes, the slackers are getting three meals a day from the wardens and hell from the rest of the prisoners.

No, brother, you shouldn't let up on the speculating hog, or he'll have your shirt soon.

IS FORTUNATE AS CLUB BUILDER

McGraw Has Sufficient Backing to Get Players and This With Ability Brings Success

URNS BACK MANY STARS

Over Year Ago He Started Gathering Material For His Present Marchine Which is a Winner

By H. C. HAMILTON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, July 24.—A good dash of fortune, scrambled in with real ability that is evident is as much responsible as anything else in the success of John J. McGraw.

Touted a wonder as a baseball manager, it is doubtful if McGraw would be able to produce the same results that have characterized efforts of several other big league managers if he didn't have the wealth of his backers to draw from, leaving him free to choose at will from among hundreds of ball players.

The cases of Eddie Rousch and Dick Rudolph are perhaps the most predominant. Rousch is near the top among National league batsmen. Rudolph is Boston's most effective pitcher and was one of the main reasons why the Braves were able to battle their way to a National League championship and a subsequent world's championship. Both these men were once Giants. Rousch was kept mainly doing bench duty, while Rudolph scarcely got that far. Milton Stock is another example; Fred Merkle is a fair idea of a ball player discarded as a has been, and who is doing great work. There are many others. McGraw has cast them aside to make room for men he thought would do better with the men taking up his team. He has been successful in winning pennants and has to his credit one world's championship, but if he would gather the stars he has let slip from his grasp and form them into one team the chances are he would have a machine that would be able to crush the present galaxy of stars with which he is trying to fret his way to a pennant.

A little more than a year ago McGraw set out to gather in a surplus of stars with which he threatened to make a runaway race of the National league pennant. Among these was Hans Lobert. Lobert didn't even finish the season and is used now only as a pinch hitter. McGraw considers him finished, yet it is only a brief stretch of time since he went into a breach and won a game for the Giants by the brilliance of his fielding and hitting.

It is one thing to have money behind and still another to be able to build a championship team.

GOVERNOR OF WEST VIRGINIA COMING

Will Visit Fort Harrison Next Sunday Thus Completing "Special Days" For States

STAFF WILL ACCOMPANY HIM

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., July 24.—Next Sunday—July 29—will be observed as "West Virginia Day," at Fort Benjamin Harrison, where Uncle Sam's student officers are training for active warfare.

Gov. John J. Cornwell, of West Virginia, members of his staff, and other state officials, have notified Gov. Goodrich, of Indiana, and Gen. Edwin F. Glenn, post commander at Fort Harrison, of their coming visit. Elaborate plans for entertainment of the easterners are being made.

Gov. Cornwell and his staff will be given every opportunity to inspect the West Virginia troops at the camp, and will be informed in detail regarding the method of their training and their mode of living. The program for the day's activities has not been definitely arranged.

Observation of West Virginia Day at Fort Benjamin Harrison completes the list of "special days" in honor of the various states from which the student officers at the fort are drawn. Indiana Day, Kentucky Day and Ohio Day already have been observed, with the governors of those states attending.

Cox's Shoe Store

All Men's and Women's Pumps and Oxfords, regular prices $4, $5, $6 and $7, go at $2.95, $3.95, $4.95 and $5.45.

This is a clean sweep of all the Low Shoes in our store, including not only lines in which the sizes are broken, but complete lines in all the newest lasts and Leathers. The most wanted models—the finest shoes in the store.

These prices—$2.95 to $5.45—are less than the same shoes would cost to make today.

We are overstocked on these goods because the weather upset normal purchasing. Folks do not buy low shoes till they need them. There were only 10 clear days in April and May—and scarcely more in June. This put us behind on our regular sales and we are going to sacrifice these goods without reservation—as it is the policy of this store never to carry goods from one season to another.

This is your opportunity as most of the summer is still before you. We want to remind you again: This is Not an Ordinary Shoe Sale. Ordinary reductions mean little. These are standard values—shoes of known merit, of fixed prices—and this sale represents a striking and genuine economy. We stand back of every pair—They are the Best.

The same rate of Reduction goes for the LITTLE FOLKS. A few pair left of the old stock which is being offered at a ridiculously low price.

WOMAN CANDIDATE GIVES PLATFORM

Mrs. Alice Mannering, Head of Socialist Ticket in South Bend, is For Broad Principles.

WILL BE SERVANT OF PEOPLE

Believes In Doing Greatest Good For The Greatest Number of People

(By United Press.)

South Bend, Ind., July 24.—Declaring herself "firmly for the broad principles of Socialism," Mrs. Alice Mannering, nominated by the Socialist party for mayor of South Bend, today outlined for the United Press the platform upon which she will run for office. She promised a strong, aggressive campaign for election.

"My nomination on the Socialist ticket for mayor of South Bend came to me entirely unsolicited," Mrs. Mannering declared. "And, if elected, I will consider myself the people's servant—not their boss or dictator."

"For my municipal campaign, I shall champion the institution of a free city dispensary; municipal ownership of all public utilities; municipal milk dairy; municipal coal yard and city-owned coal mine; medical inspection in schools; fresh air and sunlight for every family to be provided in an ordinance regulating housing conditions; public school books at cost in all school buildings; and the revocation of the perpetual street car franchise of the Northern Indiana Railway company."

"I wish to declare myself firmly for the broad principles of Socialism—the greatest good to the greatest number of people; the elimination of special privilege, unnecessary waste, middlemen, and competition. And in their stead, I would institute co-operation and business for service, as expressed in public ownership of institutions upon which the public must depend."

"I commit myself to do all in my power to further the cause of education, believing that in no other agency does the hope and future welfare of the human race depend."

"I stand for the enforcement of law, for the upholding of human rights, and for the making of America safe for democracy."

NO NEED SEEN FOR A FOOD SHORTAGE

Importance of Women As Patriotic Recruits Far Greater in America Than in England

WHAT U. S. HOUSEWIFE CAN DO

She Is Asked to Enroll on August 15 For Food Conservation Campaign And Do Her Part

Indianapolis, July 24.—The State Council of Defense, through its publicity committee, George Ada, chairman, today issued the following:

There need be no food shortage in this country.

Neither need the allies in our war with Germany go without sufficient nourishing food.

Here's where the women of America come in. Their importance as patriotic recruits is far greater in America than in England; where hundreds of thousands have replaced men in the industries, in the fields, offices and elsewhere in order that the manhood of the country might be mobilized at the front.

In fact the American housewife commands the greatest single influence toward making the war a success from the viewpoint of the allies the food supply.

No military authority disputes the proposition that the most efficient army is the one that is properly nourished. No bounteous supply of guns, ammunition, hospital facilities or other essentials will make up for a shortage of food.

Failure or refusal to sign the Hoover food cards is going to mark the home-maker in question as a slacker—and in America there must be none such.

August 15 is the day upon which Indiana women are going to enroll. What they sign will bind them to the most patriotic, far-reaching and yet most easily accomplished thing they have ever been called upon to do.

Here's all the card contains:

Food Conservation Pledge

I will join you in the service of food conservation for the nation, and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administration insofar as my circumstances permit.

Arlington sews three days out of the week and completes fifty or sixty garments each week. They are considering taking an entire box and packing it for shipment with their own making. The Red Cross has a work shop on the corner west of the I. & C. traction station which is not hard for a visitor in Arlington to see because on the outside of the house appear two large Red Crosses and appropriate slogans.

PRICE FIXING BY GOVERNMENT OLD

Sixteen Centuries Ago Emperor Diocletian Issued Edict Discussing Roman H. C. of L.

MAXIMUM PRICES FIXED THEN

More Than 700 Items Included in His Decree—Actuated by Highest Motives

Washington, July 23.—Price fixing by the arbitrary act of government is not new in economic history. Some sixteen centuries ago Emperor Diocletian issued an edict discussing the high cost of living in the Roman Empire and endeavored to solve the problem by fixing maximum prices which might be charged for a long list of commodities and luxuries. More than seven hundred different items were included in his decree.

In the centuries that have passed since Diocletian's time there have been many changes in production, transportation, and marketing. We have developed the steam railroad, the telegraph, and the comprehensive system of market reports. There has been a great change in everything except human nature, which remains practically the same as sixteen centuries ago.

That Diocletian was actuated by high motives is indicated by the following expression in the introduction to his edict:

"Who is so hardened a heart and so untouched by a feeling for humanity that he can be unaware that in the sale of wares which are exchanged in the market, or dealt with in the daily business of the cities, an exorbitant tendency in prices has spread to such an extent that the unbridled desire of plundering is held in check neither by abundance nor by seasons of plenty."

His conclusion reads:

"It is our pleasure, therefore, that those prices which the subjoined written summary specifies, be held in observance throughout all our domain, that all may know that license to go above the same has been cut off. It is our pleasure (also) that if any man shall have boldly come into conflict with this formal statute, he shall put his life in peril. In the same peril also shall he be placed who, drawn along by avarice in his desire to buy, shall have conspired against these statutes. Nor shall he be esteemed innocent of the same crime who, having articles necessary for daily life and use, shall have decided hereafter that they can be held back, since the punishment ought to be even heavier for him who causes need than for him who violates the laws."

These quotations are taken from Abbott's "The Common People" of Ancient Rome which book presents a long list of commodities and services with prices fixed by Diocletian. The outcome of this effort to reduce the high cost of living is summarized in a quotation from a book written by Lactantius in the fourth century A. D. reading as follows:

"And when he had brought on a state of exceeding high prices by his different acts of injustice, he tried to fix by law the prices of articles offered for sale. Thereupon, for the veriest trifles much blood was shed, and out of fear nothing was offered for sale, and the scarcity grew much worse, until, after the death of many persons, the law was repealed from mere necessity."

URGES FARMERS TO BUILD SILOS

Shelby County Farmer Shows Importance of Erecting Them For This Year's Stock

BENEFIT WORKS TWO WAYS

Will Help Farmer and Then The Government—Increases Live Stock Capacity of Barn

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, July 24.—"If you cannot shoulder a gun—build a silo."

That is the slogan being preached to Indiana farmers by M. Douglas, successful Flatrock, Shelby county farmer, who is speaking to rural audiences at request of the Indiana council of defense.

"Never in the history of the country can a silo be built for as few bushels of corn as now," said Douglas. "A $250 silo can be built for less than 150 bushels of corn."

"The scarcity of wheat, the extra demand which will be made on the United States for export wheat and the high price of corn has caused the government to figure on a cheap feed for live stock thus releasing more corn for export, says Douglas. The silo answers the question best, in his opinion."

"The building of a silo is of great benefit both to the man and to the government from a money standpoint," Douglas said. "The State Council of Defense will reach every county in the state before September in order to tell of the many benefits which are derived from the use of silos."

"The Council of Defense wishes to see 5,000 silos built by fall. They really want to see twice that number built, but there are only 5,000 silos available." Douglas gave the following reasons why every farmer who keeps live stock should have a silo:

"The silo preserves the palatability and succulence of the green corn plant for winter feeding."

"It helps to make use of the entire corn plant."

"The silo increases the live stock capacity of the farm."

"Silage is a good summer food when pastures are short."

"Because of the small amount of ground space required by the silo, it is an economical means of storing forage."

"The silo prevents the waste of corn stalks, leaves and husks, which contain about two-fifths of the feeding value of the corn plant."

"The silo located near the feed manger is an assurance of having feed near at hand in stormy as well as fair weather."

"The silo assists in reducing the cost of grains in fattening cattle and sheep."

"Silage greatly increases the milk flow during the winter season and decreases the cost of production."

"There are no stalks to bother in the manure when corn is put into the silo."

PROGRAM IS ARRANGED FOR THE FLAG PRESENTATION CEREMONY

Company B Will be Honored at Patriotic Meeting at Coliseum Sunday Afternoon at 2:30.

C. M. YOCUM TO MAKE ADDRESS

Flag Will be Accepted on Behalf of the Company by Captain John H. Kiplinger.

MESS FUND WORK IS STARTED

Committees Are Assigned to Districts and Begin Canvassing—Whole County to be Covered.

The program was announced today for the flag presentation ceremony in honor of Company B next Sunday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock at the Coliseum in the city park.

Captain John K. Gowdy, a veteran of the civil war, will be the honorary chairman of the meeting and Robert E. Mansfield will be the acting chairman. The presentation address will be made by C. M. Yocum and the flag will be accepted on behalf of the company by Captain John H. Kiplinger. An unusual feature of the meeting will be the singing of "The Marseillaise" by Paul Lagrange, a French Canadian, in French, assisted by a large chorus. Mr. Lagrange sings in the choir at the Catholic church.

Since plans have been completed for the flag presentation, some hard hats are being put in toward raising the Company B mess fund. The city has been districted for the ten mess committees and some of them have already canvassed their territory and met with a ready response from the people. The purpose of the mess fund is to provide little conveniences and luxuries for the company which the government does not supply.

Each committee was given not only a territory in the city, but as well the responsibility of organizing one township for the work. The committees were assigned as follows and given the township designated after their names:

Center of Second street south to corporation line—Frank Wilson and Denning—Orange township.

Center of Second to center of third—Will M. Sparks and R. L. Hopkins—Ripley township.

Center of Third to center of fourth—R. W. Noyer and Voorhees—Anderson township.

Center of Fourth to center of fifth—R. E. Harrold and Charles B. Wilson—Posey township.

Center of Fifth to the center of sixth—E. R. Casady and R. C. Harrold—Jackson township.

Center of Sixth to center of seventh—L. L. Allen and Cauncey Dunham—Union township.

Center of Seventh to center of eighth—A. L. Riggs—Walker township.

Center of Eighth to center of ninth—Jack Knecht and A. L. Stewart—Washington township.

Center of Ninth to center of tenth—Will M. Bliss and Charles Aze—Noble township.

Center of Tenth to the corporation line—G. P. Hunt—Center township—Richard township.

A. F. Hogsett and J. B. Morris—The mess fund must be raised by Sunday. This is the word given out by the committee.

The chairman of the committee this morning urged at people who wanted to give, and their donations to the committee which has their district in charge.

It was pointed out that all of the committeemen are busy and that they are giving their time to make the mess fund just as other committees have in other war work here.

The first was from Connersville where three brothers named Peters enlisted in the local company.

The regular weekly drill of the company will be held Wednesday night at the city park. Thus far no speaker has been announced. Company B is still recruiting men. ## FAIR TO GIVE 5 PER CENT TO RED CROSS

Board Decides at Meeting Monday Night to Aid in War Plans by Helping County Chapter

WEDNESDAY PATRIOTIC DAY

At a meeting of the Rush County fair board last night it was voted to give the Red Cross five percent of the tickets sold by them. Whether the Red Cross will accept the offer remains to be seen. Since there is to be no stockholders' or family tickets this year, it was believed that the Red Cross could dispose of a large number of single admission tickets. The tickets will be good for any day of the fair.

At the meeting it was also decided to have patriotic day on Wednesday. It is planned to have some prominent man deliver an address at the fair grounds at ten o'clock Wednesday morning. The speaker has not yet been secured. For Riggs was elected a member of the board of directors.

SHIPPING BOARD MUDDLE SETTLED

Steps to Put End to Delay in Building Merchant Marine Taken by Accepting Resignations

PANAMA CANAL BUILDER GOES

Gen. Goethals and Capt. White Resign and New Members of Board Are Appointed

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 24.—Sweeping steps were taken today by President Wilson to put an end to delay in building America's great merchant marine.

Two resignations—those of Gen. Goethals, manager of the emergency fleet corporation and Capt. White, member of the shipping board—were accepted. Chairman Denman of the shipping board was asked to resign and he resopaded immediately.

At the same time the president announced the appointment of Edwin N. Hurley, Chicago, as chairman of the shipping board and Admiral Capps, naval constructor, as general manager of the emergency fleet corporation.

Bainbridge Colby, New York, was named in White's place on the board.

"We will start with a clean sheet," the president explained in his letter to Goethals, accepting the Panama canal builder's resignation offer.

It was evident from the promptness with which the president acted in every particular that he had had the house cleaning in mind for several weeks.

The stepping out of the canal builder came as a complete surprise to Washington. It was believed that the president would make one last attempt to mollify the two contending men and get them to work together in the great ship program facing the government.

In appointing White's successor President Wilson had the opportunity to bring to a head action on the building program. White has lined up with Denman and Theodore Brent with the board majority while John Donald and R. B. Stevens have exposed Goethals' course. Reports that Donald had also resigned were denied by him.

At the same time it developed that since Goethals wrote the president offering to step out in the interest of harmony further communications have passed him and Denman, gradually clearing up the differences between them.

White constituted the odd man on the board of directors which gave Denman the balance of power in the controversy respecting Goethals and Denman's ship building proposals.

MUTINEERS TO BE SHOT AS TRAITORS

Russia, Decides on Drastic Steps—Clothing New People's Cabinet With Unlimited Power

PREMIER KERENSKY AT FRONT

Petrograd is Hoping That he Will Again Perform a Miracle With the Wavering Army

By WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Petrograd, July 24.—Russia will shoot down as traitors the mutineers in her armies and the German spies in her cities.

Clothed with unlimited power the new people's cabinet was prepared today to invoke measures of bloodshed to stop the route of the south-east armies and to clean out the pest of Germans scattered throughout the nation. A proclamation declaring all who disobey the provincial government's orders, "will be regarded as traitors and cowards" and "shown no mercy" was issued today.

Petrograd is hoping that Premier Kerensky will again perform a miracle at the front. With Tarnopol gone and the Tentonic army pushing forward on a front close to 40 miles the whole of the great Russian line as far north of Tinsk is menaced. Turning of the Russian flank may be attempted. In Petrograd small forces of soldiers and special agents began today a systematic uprooting of the German spy system and a sorting out of all suspects.

The existence of a huge German plot to overthrow the new democracy by a counter revolution was definitely proved today in wholesale arrests in the capital. It was German money that excited the riots last week to treason. Millions have been spent forming the scheme.

Russia's army on the southwest front is in a state of complete disorganization with mutinous soldiers threatening those who oppose them and long lines of deserters straggling to the rear. The morale of the fighters is gone.

It was this grave message received by the government executive committee from the southwest front and just made public here that sent Premier and Minister Kerensky there.

"A fatal crises have occurred in the morale of the troops," a telegram declared. "Most of the military units are in a state of complete disorganization. Their spirit for eventualities has utterly disappeared. The men no longer listen to the exploitation of the comrades, even replying with threats to shoot those who oppose them."

By a vote of 252 to 37 the work-

Canning Parties Planned for Each Friday Afternoon In City

Rushville Food Conservation Committee of Women Considers Project to Sell to Co. B.

FULL MEETING ON SATURDAY

The Rushville committee of the women's food conservation committee of the county is planning to arrange for canning parties in Rushville Friday afternoon of each week during the canning season. If arrangements are completed by tomorrow, the first party will be held this week.

This is in line with the movement among the women of the county to can all of the excess food products in the county. The object is to sell all the food canned to the army at cost and the women's division of the County Defense Council is now conferring with Captain Kiplinger of Company B to this end. Capt. Kiplinger has already interviewed the women on the defense body to learn how big a canning product will be available for his company in the next few weeks. A full meeting of the women's food conservation committee will be held in the director's room of the Peoples National bank next Saturday afternoon at two o'clock to consider the suggestion to can food for the local company.

All women in the city who have an excess of any fruit or vegetable will be asked to bring it to the canning parties which are proposed for each Friday afternoon in Rushville and help prepare it for canning and can it. The products will be sold for the price of containers, which will be five cents each. The committee asking for the excess products only as the idea is to can that which would otherwise go to waste.

To The Men Wishing To Join Some Branch of Service...

I am still able to accept men for Cavalry Troop E. To the men of conscription age, I especially urge to be examined quickly as the time is short for them. To all men I tender a chance to join the service in one of its most spectacular branches. I am able to recruit anywhere in the state, so your chance to join is getting smaller every day. If interested call me at phone 1115, Rushville, or go to any recruiting officer for I. N. G. and tell him you wish to join Troop E.

Various Forms of Potato Cellar or Dugout Explained

The storage of potatoes of the main crop can be accomplished most satisfactorily throughout much of the United States in the dugout pit or potato cellar in some of its various forms of construction, says a recently published Farmers' Bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture, "Potato Storage and Storage Houses." In general, the bulletin says, no attempt is made to store potatoes of the early crop, since usually they are sold for immediate consumption.

While the dugout storage house is in most general use, concrete or masonry houses with frame superstructures are, perhaps, most satisfactory in cold climates. In some sections, especially in the South where drainage is poor, insulated frame structures built entirely above ground must be depended upon.

The primary purposes of storage, it is pointed out, are to protect the tubers from extremes of heat and cold and from light. Account also must be taken of conditions of humidity and ventilation and of the size of the storage pile.

The temperature should be the highest at which potatoes can be maintained firm and ungerminated, and which will at the same time hold fungous diseases in check. Experiments of the department with artificially refrigerated storage indicate that 36 degrees F. is sufficiently low for all practical purposes and that in the earlier portion of the storage season a temperature of 40 degrees F. is just as satisfactory as a lower one except where powdery dry rot infection occurs.

All natural light should be excluded from potato storage houses because when the tubers are exposed to even modified light, they are soon injured for food purposes. A practical rule in regard to humidity, the bulletin already mentioned says, is to maintain sufficient moisture in the air to prevent the wilting of the tubers and at the same time to keep the humidity content low enough to prevent the deposit of moisture on the surface of the tubers.

If potatoes are piled in too large piles they may become over-heated and deteriorate. Six feet is a maximum depth to which to pile tubers in bins, and the area covered by each pile should also be limited. A good plan is to insert ventilated division walls at intervals through the pile or bin. These may be made by nailing relatively narrow boards on both sides of 2 x 4 uprights, 1 inch spaces being left between the boards. General ventilation for the whole storage house usually is accomplished through ventilating shaft in the roof.

The possible ways to store potatoes, says the bulletin, are pits or earth covered piles, in dugout pits or potato storage cellars, in insulated wooden structures, in substantial masonry or concrete houses, and in artificially refrigerated storage houses. The latter two methods are the most expensive. Pitting is the most primitive method of storage, but if properly done on well-drained locations is satisfactory in so far as preservation of the potatoes is concerned. The chief drawback to pitting is that the potatoes are not always easily accessible in the winter.

The dugout pit or potato cellar is probably more widely used than any other type of storage space. Fitted with water-tight roof it is especially popular in the central portion of the United States. In the arid and semi-arid sections a type with sod or dirt roof is in most general use. As a rule, the excavation for the cheaper structures of the dugout pit or cellar type when erected on level or nearly level land does not exceed 3 feet. The soil removed from such an excavation, particularly if the dugout is of any considerable size, is ample for banking the side and end walls and also for the roof. The cost of construction may be greatly modified, according to the character of the location.

In the cheaper dugouts, where the soil is of such a nature as to remain intact it is allowed to form the side and end walls, the roof being supported on plates resting on the soil and held together by boards or joists. The form of construction involves a deeper excavation and a constant element of risk from a cave-in. In the more expensive and substantial structures the side and end walls are built of concrete.

Insulated frame potato storage houses are not used very extensively. As a rule they are better adapted to southern than to northern climatic conditions. The construction feature of such houses is the thorough insulation of their walls, ceiling, doors and windows. This type of storage house is not to be recommended for northern locations, nor is it advocated for the South except where poor drainage conditions will not permit the use of the dugout or cellar style of house. It is not recommended, because it can not be so economically constructed, nor does it furnish as good a type of storage as the properly ventilated cellar storage house.

The Aroostook type of storage house, with concrete or masonry basement walls and wooden superstructure, seems to be distinctly a product of Maine, and so far as has been observed is not found to any extent outside of the State. It is an expensively constructed house and is almost always located on a sidehill or knoll in order that advantage may be taken of a groundlevel entrance. That such houses have proved satisfactory to the potato grower in Maine is evident from the fact that practically no other style of potato storage house is in use in that State.

The artificially refrigerated potato storage house is as yet hardly in existence. The present use of this type of storage house is confined practically to the holding of northern-grown seed potatoes in cold storage for second-crop planting in the South.

THEY RELEASE PICKET SCENES

Mutant Suffrage Disturbances in Washington Are All Pre-Arranged Affairs

SEEK PLENTY OF PUBLICITY

Are Always "Pulled Off" When They Are Assured of Getting a Crowd

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 23.—Every militant suffrage disturbance in Washington is planned, rehearsed and staged by the National Woman's Party like the big scene in a movie melodrama. Then it is "put across" on schedule time, when the suffragist captains are sure the newspaper correspondents and camera-men are out, when advance notices have drawn a crowd to the spot and when the vote hunters are sure they will get their money's worth in world-wide publicity.

Miss Alice Paul and Miss Lucy Burns are the stage-managers. They write the scenarios. Mrs. Abbey Scott Baker, Queen of Press Agencies, commands the army of fair scribes which spreads the startling details and makes sure all newspapers and press associations are kept informed.

When a riot is planned the hour is usually set for 12:30 p. m. or 4:30 p. m. when the necessary spectator and participants will be supplied by crowds of clerks coming from the State, War and Navy building. The militants "show" is planned at their headquarters near the White House. Volunteers crowd around the leaders, anxious to be cast in prominent roles. Mrs. Baker's brigade gets busy. Telephones tinkle in all newspaper offices. The event is announced. The rehearsal completed, out sally the women, do their stunts, get arrested, get released and return to headquarters.

They rings the clatter and clasp of typewriters. They batter forth sarcastic descriptions of the scene. And when the dust settles, the patrol wagons cease their clangor and the angry cries of the mobs die away, staring headlines in the newspapers mark the end of the militant's perfect day.

TEARS UP STAMPS TO DO HIS BIT IN WAR

WOULD MEAN $7.30 EACH YEAR

Washington, July 23.—A two-cent-a-day "bit" for would-be patriots who can't fight, buy Liberty automobiles urging others to join the bonds or display posters on the army, was suggested to Senator Ashurst of Arizona by Daniel Brown of California.

Brown—a Lusitania survivor—wrote from the California home of disabled soldiers—of whom he is one: "Let everybody who can't fight buy bonds destroy a new two-cent stamp every day. We're all doing it. It means $7.30 a year for a government—almost all clear profit."

Rue Webb denied this morning that he had been drowned. Not succeeding in drowning him, rumor tried his hand at drowning Carl Webb, a brother, who is at Laurel with the Boy Scouts of this city who are on an outing. After Rue Webb said it wasn't so about him being drowned, some semblance of truth was lent to the story about Carl because he was known to be at a camp where swimming would be one of the main diversions.

But Mr. Ramor's batting average was further reduced when a telephone message received from Laurel said that no one at the Boy Scouts camp had been drowned and that they were all very much alive this morning since they had just started out on a hike.

STATE FAIRS WILL HELP CONSERVATION

Tender to Government Services and Appliances as Food Training Camps This Fall

CO-OPERATION TO BE TAUGHT

Washington, July 23.—Representatives of the American Association of Fairs and Expositions, in convention at Washington have tendered to the Government through the Secretary of Agriculture the services and appliances of the State fairs as food-training camps to promote food production, food conservation, effective marketing, live stock production, and more efficient agriculture. A. L. Sponsler, Hutchinson, Kansas, as president of the association, at a meeting at the Department of Agriculture, pointed out that these fairs annually have an attendance of fifteen to twenty million people, and stated that the association was ready to set aside as many of the fair activities as possible to bring the Government's programs of food conservation and production to the attention of this audience, and to demonstrate methods of cooperating effectively in national measures.

Using Outdoor Writing Tables—Building No. 2

Fort Benjamin Harrison, July 23.—The State Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association holds their annual out-of-doors meeting here today, inspecting the three army Association buildings.

J. Quincy Ames, executive secretary at the Fort Y. M. C. A., formerly secretary of the South Bend Association, reported what he and his fifteen associates have been doing since the opening of the Reserve Officers' Training Camp, May 15. "There are now," he said, "about 13,000 men here. Two big tents were erected and served as headquarters for about a month until our buildings were ready, the first two being dedicated July 1 and the last one yesterday." Mr. Ames presented an ordinary week's program in one of the buildings:

Sunday: Church services at 10 o'clock; men's Bible classes, 3 to 4; song service at 7; dramatic and ethical moving pictures at 8.

Monday and Thursday evenings: Conversational French classes, for which 600 men have signed up, after which are athletic "stunts."

Tuesday evening: Moving pictures from 8 to 9.

Wednesday evening: Entertainment and refreshments by the Indianapolis Church Federation.

Friday evening: Illustrated travelogues.

Saturday evening: Comedy moving pictures and "stunts" by local talent.

From morning to night every day the men stream into these social centers to borrow athletic equipment, to play the piano or victrola, have a quiet talk with a secretary if lonesome or blue, or to write a letter home, a wagon load of mail going from these buildings every day. The secretaries visit the hospital daily, and the rifle range also, where hundreds are held all day, waiting their turn.

General Edwin F. Glenn said recently in dedicating Building No. 1: "I have had considerable experience with the Y. M. C. A. in the army both at home and abroad, in Porto Rico and the Philippines. I have found that it always follows the flag." Many of the regulars here have used the Association club houses on the Canal Zone, as well as on the border, and are not surprised when informed that they will find the "Red Triangle" well organized and equipped overseas. Commodious buildings have been secured in London and in Paris, besides many other centers "somewhere in France" being prepared by the advance guard of thirty secretaries sent with the first expeditionary forces. From 1,500 to 2,000 secretaries will be required to carry out this greatest task ever undertaken by the Association, and nearly five million dollars will be required before the end of 1917, toward which amount Indiana has subscribed nearly $170,000—$25,000 more than her allotment.

with the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture, pointed out to the association several important directions in which the fairs can be made more directly to serve the Nation in the present emergency.

CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Cal., July 24.—The case of Rena Mooney, accused of complicity in the bomb plot here a year ago, was in the hands of the jury late this afternoon.

On July 22, 1916, while thousands were gathered in a demonstration for "preparedness" a bomb explosion at Stuart and Market streets, killed ten people and injured scores of others.

The crime sent a wave of horror throbbing through the country. Charges of murder were placed against:

Thomas J. Mooney—a music teacher; Warren K. Billings, member of the shoe cutters union; Edward Nolan, member of the machinists union and Israel Weinberg, jitney driver.

Billings was convicted and sentenced to life in prison.

Mooney was tried next, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

Mrs. Mooney was the third to go to trial. Her case was taken up on May 21. Developments which had focused new attention on the cases.

F. E. Rigall of Grayville, Ill., a few weeks before Mooney was to go to the gallows, charged F. C. Oxman, wealthy Oregon cattleman, with attempting to persuade him to give false testimony against Mooney. Oxman's testimony had been vital in Mooney's conviction. The appellate court has been ordered to grant Mooney a new trial.

During the weeks of Mrs. Mooney's trial, few connected with either side escaped the thrusts, charges and counter charges of the attorneys and labor leaders. The prosecution held Mrs. Mooney and the four other defendants planned the patriotism typified in the preparedness parade; that Warren Billings, Mooney and Mrs. Mooney were driven to Stuart and Market streets by Israel Weinberg in his jitney bus and placed the suitcase containing the infernal machine, on the side walk there.

Harley L. Ansten of south of New Salem is in St. Vincent's hospital in Indianapolis recovering from the effects of an operation on his left foot. He was left a cripple seventeen years ago from the effects of infantile paralysis. He was four years old when afflicted with the disease.

Farmers and Food Control

An illuminating side light on the food situation is contained in some expressions inserted in the Congressional Record recently by Senator Smith of Michigan. These were from farmer's organizations and individual farmers, and they without exception endorsed the food control measures before congress.

These expressions give us a pretty clear idea as to whence come the present panic prices. We are told with great unctious that this is the first time in our history that the farmer has received for his products what they were really worth.

But let us see. What is the object of food control? Whence comes the insistent demand? Plainly, the demand is the direct result of food prices that are out of all proportion to wages and to prices in every other line. Is it reasonable to believe that if the farmers were receiving anything like the present retail prices—minus, of course, a reasonable per cent of middlemen's profit—that they would be not only willing but anxious to kill the goose that lays the golden egg?

The plain truth is, the farmer is not benefitted by the present high prices of food in any degree to recompense him for what he is injured by extravagant prices in other lines. He is paying vastly more for every purchase he makes, from a plow point to a tractor engine. What he gains from his profits on his sales of food stuffs is about offset by the enormous increase in the cost of everything he must buy to operate his farm. This the farmers know, and this is why they are, almost without exception, heartily in favor of government food control—a control which will establish a minimum as well as a maximum price.

The speculating food pirates will have to hunt some other scapegoat for their sins instead of the farmer and his "interests."

The Day After

The "day after" is very expressive combination of words. It means something to every person who has taxed his or her energies either in the pursuit of pleasure or of the elusive dollar. America has been keyed up to high tension since last Friday morning when the big draft drawing began. The after-effects are just now beginning to be felt and America is experiencing the results of a big "nerve-jag."

It was an epoch-making thing—this drawing of ten million men to determine the order of their service for their country. Some idea of the tension to which the whole country arose and the sudden inflation afterwards is expressed in the masterful description of the room in which the drawing took place, which was written "the day after" by George Martin, a staff correspondent of the United Press:

No stony visaged fero, king at Monte Carlo ever dealt a more dispassionate game than Provost Marshal General Crowder and his staff in their great all-day and all-night gamble with the lives of ten million men.

Jaded and worn, they turned from their task as cloudy dawn gathered across the Potomac. Nor was the sun far up when they met today to check up the proceeds of their sixteen hour's play.

Strewn with fragments of the broken pellets which told the fate of America's boys, this history-making room this morning was a wreck.

At the beginning it presented a never-to-be-forgotten scene,

The great blackboards with their fateful digits blocked the far end of the room in an inverted V. Above them a glittering crystal chandelier, brilliantly lighted despite a brilliant sun pouring through the cathedraled windows,

Today beneath the chandelier, the long flat table where Crowder and his men sat facing the number bowl was deserted.

Before this on a low mahogany pedestal with four blocky, ebony legs, sat the great glass jar, gaping and empty, filched of its capsuled secrets.

Beyond lay the jumble of chairs where sat the personnel of house and senate military affairs committees and to the right, across a narrow aisle, the long wide table where half a hundred members of the press worked feverishly long, long hours to tell the world the story of what had happened there.

Amid the debris, crumpled and torn, reposed the film of heavy brown paper, which, nipped to the belled mouth of the glass globe, had held its secret so close.

Beside it lay the tough white cord and next to that, half hidden under a mass of scribbled note sheets, lay the wooden soup ladle which had stirred the ebony pellets in the bowl. Its blade was splintered and the tiny rosette of red, white and blue baby ribbon which clung to its hilt so gaily at the dawning was crumpled and soiled.

That ladle—how many thousands of men it had scooped from the bottom to within an ace of the first call only to send them tumbling to the bottom again with another whirl of its blade.

Vast and deep as some oaken doored room in a castle of Tuscany, garishly decorated as a palace of wonders at a village street fair, this great deserted "drawing" room, was silent today, save for the whacking of unmindful janitors' brooms against the baseboards.

Jailing traitors and alien enemies is quite proper and should be done in every case, but we'd all like to see the cassettes put to work and made to earn their keep. Taxing loyalty to feed disloyalty does not appeal to us.

It is becoming apparent to any school boy that the more congress talks about food control the less it knows of what it is talking about.

The circumference of the earth is said to be 25,000,000 miles. Who'll join us on a hike?

Yes, the slackers are getting three meals a day from the wardens and hell from the rest of the prisoners.

No, brother, you shouldn't let up on the speculating hog, or he'll have your shirt soon.

MONEY FOUND ON DEAD SOLDIERS UNCLAIMED
(By United Press.)

London, July 7 (By Mail)—Over $50,000, found on soldiers who have lost their lives in France, is waiting at the War Office to be claimed by the next-of-kin of the dead men. As the War Office is still asking for the next-of-kin of soldiers who died seven years ago leaving sums of money, it is not expected that much of the present fortune will ever be claimed. The amounts left by individuals vary from a shilling to several hundred pounds.

IS FORTUNATE AS CLUB BUILDER

McGraw Has Sufficient Backing to Get Players and This With Ability Brings Success

TURNS BACK MANY STARS

Over Year Ago He Started Gathering Material For His Present Marching Which is a Winner

By H. C. HAMILTON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, July 24.—A good dash of fortune, scrambled in with real ability that is evident is as much responsible as anything else in the success of John J. McGraw.

Touted a wonder as a baseball manager, it is doubtful if McGraw would be able to produce the same results that have characterized efforts of several other big league managers if he didn't have the wealth of his backers to draw from, leaving him free to choose at will from among hundreds of ball players.

The cases of Eddie Rousch and Dick Rudolph are perhaps the most predominant. Rousch is near the top among National league batsmen. Rudolph is Boston's most effective pitcher and was one of the main reasons why the Braves were able to battle their way to a National League championship and a subsequent world's championship. Both these men were once Giants. Rousch was kept mainly doing bench duty, while Rudolph scarcely got that far. Milton Stock is another example; Fred Merkle is a fair idea of a ball player discarded as a has been, and who is doing great work. There are many others. McGraw has cast them aside to make room for men he thought would do better with the men taking up his team. He has been successful in winning pennants and has to his credit one world's championship, but if he would gather the stars he has let slip from his grasp and form them into one team the chances are he would have a machine that would be able to crush the present galaxy of stars with which he is trying to fret his way to a pennant.

A little more than a year ago McGraw set out to gather in a surplus of stars with which he threatened to make a runaway race of the National league pennant. Among these was Hans Lobert. Lobert didn't even finish the season and is used now only as a pinch hitter. McGraw considers him finished, yet it is only a brief stretch of time since he went into a breach and won a game for the Giants by the brilliance of his fielding and hitting.

It is one thing to have money behind and still another to be able to build a championship team.

GOVERNOR OF WEST VIRGINIA COMING

Will Visit Fort Harrison Next Sunday Thus Completing "Special Days" For States

STAFF WILL ACCOMPANY HIM

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 24.—Next Sunday—July 29—will be observed as "West Virginia Day," at Fort Benjamin Harrison, where Uncle Sam's student officers are training for active warfare.

Gov. John J. Cornwell, of West Virginia, members of his staff, and other state officials, have notified Gov. Goodrich, of Indiana, and Gen. Edwin F. Glenn, post commander at Fort Harrison, of their coming visit. Elaborate plans for entertainment of the easterners are being made.

Gov. Cornwell and his staff will be given every opportunity to inspect the West Virginia troops at the camp, and will be informed in detail regarding the method of their training and their mode of living. The program for the day's activities has not been definitely arranged.

Observation of West Virginia Day at Fort Benjamin Harrison completes the list of "special days" in honor of the various states from which the student officers at the fort are drawn. Indiana Day, Kentucky Day and Ohio Day already have been observed, with the governors of those states attending.

Cox's Shoe Store

All Men's and Women's Pumps and Oxfords, regular prices $4, $5, $6 and $7, go at $2.95, $3.95, $4.95 and $5.45.

This is a clean sweep of all the Low Shoes in our store, including not only lines in which the sizes are broken, but complete lines in all the newest lasts and Leathers. The most wanted models—the finest shoes in the store.

These prices—$2.95 to $5.45—are less than the same shoes would cost to make today.

We are overstocked on these goods because the weather upset normal purchasing. Folks do not buy low shoes till they need them. There were only 10 clear days in April and May—and scarcely more in June. This put us behind on our regular sales and we are going to sacrifice these goods without reservation—as it is the policy of this store never to carry goods from one season to another.

This is your opportunity as most of the summer is still before you. We want to remind you again: This is Not an Ordinary Shoe Sale. Ordinary reductions mean little. These are standard values—shoes of known merit, of fixed prices—and this sale represents a striking and genuine economy. We stand back of every pair—They are the Best.

The same rate of Reduction goes for the LITTLE FOLKS. A few pair left of the old stock which is being offered at a ridiculously low price.

WOMAN CANDIDATE GIVES PLATFORM

Mrs. Alice Mannering, Head of Socialist Ticket in South Bend, is For Broad Principles.

WILL BE SERVANT OF PEOPLE

Believes In Doing Greatest Good For The Greatest Number of People

(By United Press.)

South Bend, Ind., July 24—Declaring herself "firmly for the broad principles of Socialism," Mrs. Alice Mannering, nominated by the Socialist party for mayor of South Bend, today outlined for the United Press the platform upon which she will run for office. She promised a strong, aggressive campaign for election.

"My nomination on the Socialist ticket for mayor of South Bend came to me entirely unsolicited," Mrs. Mannering declared. "And, if elected, I will consider myself the people's servant—not their boss or dictator."

"For my municipal campaign, I shall champion the institution of a free city dispensary; municipal ownership of all public utilities; municipal milk dairy; municipal coal yard and city-owned coal mine; medical inspection in schools; fresh air and sunlight for every family to be provided in an ordinance regulating housing-conditions; public school books at cost in all school buildings; and the revocation of the perpetual street car franchise of the Northern Indiana Railway company."

"I wish to declare myself firmly for the broad principles of Socialism—the greatest good to the greatest number of people; the elimination of special privilege, unnecessary waste, middlemen, and competition. And in their stead, I would institute co-operation and business for service, as expressed in public ownership of institutions upon which the public must depend."

"I commit myself to do all in my power to further the cause of education, believing that in no other agency does the hope and future welfare of the human race depend. "I stand for the enforcement of law, for the upholding of human rights, and for the making of America safe for democracy."

NO NEED SEEN FOR A FOOD SHORTAGE

Importance of Women As Patriotic Recruits Far Greater in America Than in England

WHAT U. S. HOUSEWIFE CAN DO

She Is Asked to Enroll on August 15 For Food Conservation Campaign And Do Her Part

Indianapolis, July 24.—The State Council of Defense, through its publicity committee, George Ada, chairman, today issued the following: There need be no food shortage in this country.

Neither need the allies in our war with Germany go without sufficient nourishing food.

Here's where the women of America come in. Their importance as patriotic recruits is far greater in America than in England; where hundreds of thousands have replaced men in the industries, in the fields, offices and elsewhere in order that the manhood of the country might be mobilized at the front.

In fact the American housewife commands the greatest single influence toward making the war a success from the viewpoint of the allies the food supply.

No military authority disputes the proposition that the most efficient army is the one that is properly nourished. No bounteous supply of guns, ammunition, hospital facilities or other essentials will make up for a shortage of food.

Failure or refusal to sign the Hoover food cards is going to mark the home-maker in question as a slacker—and in America there must be none such.

August 15 is the day upon which Indiana women are going to enroll. What they sign will bind them to the most patriotic, far-reaching and yet most easily accomplished thing they have ever been called upon to do.

Here's all the card contains:

Food Conservation Pledge

I will join you in the service of food conservation for the nation, and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administration insofar as my circumstances permit.

Arlington sews three days out of the week and completes fifty or sixty garments each week. They are considering taking an entire box and packing it for shipment with their own making. The Red Cross has a work shop on the corner west of the I. & C. traction station which is not hard for a visitor in Arlington to see because on the outside of the house appear two large Red Crosses and appropriate slogans.

Conserve Food Supply By Canning at Home

Department of Agriculture Specialists Suggest Means of Saving Food
Winter Use What Home Gardeners Have Grown in His Back Yard During the Summer.

CANNING FRUIT WITHOUT SUGAR.

Fruit for use in pie or salads or as stewed fruit can be put up or canned without the use of any sugar at all, according to the canning specialists of the Department. They, therefore, advise those who, because of the high price of sugar, have been thinking of reducing the amount of fruit they put up, to can as much of their surplus as possible by the use of boiling water when sugar sirup is beyond their means. Any fruit, they say, may be successfully sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of the hot sirup. The use of sugar, of course, is desirable in the canning of all kinds of fruits and makes a better and readysweetened product. Moreover, most of the fruits when canned in water alone do not retain their natural flavor, texture and color as well as fruit put up in sirup. Fruit canned without sugar for sauces or desserts must be sweetened.

Can the product the same day it is picked. Cut, stem, or seed, and clean the fruit by placing it in a strainer and pouring water over it until it is clean. Pack the product thoroughly in glass jars or tin cans until they are full; use the handle of a tablespoon, wooden ladle, or table knife for packing purposes. Pour over the fruit boiling water from a kettle, place rubbers and caps in position, partially seal if using glass jars, seal completely if using tin cans. Place the containers in a sterilizing vat such as a wash boiler with false bottom, or other receptacle improvised for the purpose. If using a hot water bath outfit, process for 30 minutes; count time after the water has reached the boiling point; the water must cover the highest jar in container. After sterilizing remove packs, seal glass jars, wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place.

If you are canning in tin cans it will improve the product to plunge the cans quickly into cold water immediately after sterilization. When using a steam pressure canner instead of the hot water bath, sterilize for 10 minutes with five pounds of steam pressure. Never allow the pressure to go over ten pounds.

Eugene Helm Describes Canal Zone in Letter Received Here

Rushville Boy Who Joined Navy and is Stationed at Colon, Writes to Father, George Helm

PROMISES TO SEND MONKEY

Eugene Helm, who joined the navy in Detroit, was sent to New Orleans and was lately transferred to Panama, has written a letter from Colon to his father, George Helm, giving a description of his trip and the isthmus. The letter was written July 12 and is as follows:

Arrived in Colon yesterday. We got here in time for dinner. Believe me, it is some hot here. There is every kind of wild thing in the world here, I think. Monkey's jump from tree to tree and all kinds of poisonous bugs and fish and boat constructors 20 feet long. Colon is a funny little town all built of concrete. I had to walk about 14 miles tonight to get stamps. We had to go over to Fort Randolph where there is a postoffice. About 800 soldiers are stationed there. There is one of the 20-inch guns there to guard the canal, and one on the Pacific side also, the two largest guns of the United States. We get shore leave but once every fourth night and just 'til twelve o'clock. We have a swell place to swim; it is thirty feet deep and we have a diving board. They caught two man-eating sharks at an old wrecked boat about 200 feet from where we swim, so we can't go out and explore the old boat. We had to unload 12 car loads of canned milk and coffee and sugar today. We also loaded 45 war heads for torpedoes in a box car. If we had dropped one it would have blown the bunch to pieces. They are going to make this the largest submarine base in the world. We were drafted on the Tallahassee. It is a submarine tender and has 12 guns, two of them 12-inch size. I think maybe I will be able to get my rating changed to electrician and go aboard a submarine. I wish you could see inside of a submarine boat. It is a wonderful piece of machinery. Some of the fifty who came down with me were drafted to destroyers today as firemen. I can't see all of that hard work.

There are lots of pretty shells on the beach here. I might send you some pretty ones if you want them. I have seen more interesting things since I have been here (two days) than I ever did in the States. It is great to walk through a coconut grove and have monkeys throw coconuts at you and then laugh. There is a good deal of fever here, but they are getting that down pretty good now.

The only thing I am afraid of is that I am likely to have to stay here awhile and I want to keep going. I would like to go to the wilds of Africa if they would send me. Save up all your nickles so if I ever get back to the States you can pay me a visit and I will show you around the ship I am on.

I could write a small book on the Canal zone, but I haven't time. Some of the fellows keep diaries. My letters will do for a diary if you save them all.

I stepped on a soft fish the other day that shoots out red blood-like stuff to protect itself and I thought I had cut my foot. We cause lots of fun for the boys who have been here awhile and have got wise to the place and its animals.

Well, I must close for this time. Lots of love to all of you.

EUGENE.

People that are critical and hard to please are the best boosters for any concern that renders satisfactory service. We believe in advertising, but we get more new patrons through old ones who boost for us than through all our advertising.

If there were no critical or hard-to-please people there wouldn't be any need for an establishment such as ours. This business was established to meet the needs of particular people, and is growing because there are so many appreciative people of that kind.

PRICE FIXING BY GOVERNMENT OLD

Sixteen Centuries Ago Emperor Diocletian Issued Edict Discussing Roman H. C. of L.

MAXIMUM PRICES FIXED THEN

More Than 700 Items Included in His Decree—Actuated by Highest Motives.

Washington, July 23.—Price fixing by the arbitrary act of government is not new in economic history. Some sixteen centuries ago Emperor Diocletian issued an edict discussing the high cost of living in the Roman Empire and endeavored to solve the problem by fixing maximum prices which might be charged for a long list of commodities and luxuries. More than seven hundred different items were included in his decree.

In the centuries that have passed since Diocletian's time there have been many changes in production, transportation, and marketing. We have developed the steam railroad, the telegraph, and the comprehensive system of market reports. There has been a great change in everything except human nature, which remains practically the same as sixteen centuries ago.

That Diocletian was actuated by high motives is indicated by the following expression in the introduction to his edict:

"Who is so hardened a heart and so untouched by a feeling for humanity that he can be unaware that in the sale of wares which are exchanged in the market, or dealt with in the daily business of the cities, an exorbitant tendency in prices has spread to such an extent that the unbridled desire of plundering is held in check neither by abundance nor by seasons of plenty."

His conclusion reads:

"It is our pleasure, therefore, that those prices which the subjoined written summary specifies, be held in observance throughout all our domain, that all may know that license to go above the same has been cut off. It is our pleasure (also) that if any man shall have boldly come into conflict with this formal statute, he shall put his life in peril. In the same peril also shall he be placed who, drawn along by avarice in his desire to buy, shall have conspired against these statutes. Nor shall he be esteemed innocent of the same crime who, having articles necessary for daily life and use, shall have decided hereafter that they can be held back, since the punishment ought to be even heavier for him who causes need than for him who violates the laws."

These quotations are taken from Abbott's "The Common People of Ancient Rome" which book presents a long list of commodities and services with prices fixed by Diocletian. The outcome of this effort to reduce the high cost of living is summarized in a quotation from a book written by Lactantius in the fourth century A. D. reading as follows:

"And when he had brought on a state of exceeding high prices by his different acts of injustice, he tried to fix by law the prices of articles offered for sale. Thereupon, for the veriest trifles much blood was shed, and out of fear nothing was offered for sale, and the scarcity grew much worse, until, after the death of many persons, the law was repealed from mere necessity."

URGES FARMERS TO BUILD SILOS

Shelby County Farmer Shows Importance of Erecting Them For This Year's Stock

BENEFIT WORKS TWO WAYS

Will Help Farmer and Then The Government—Increases Live Stock Capacity of Barn

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, July 24.—"If you cannot shoulder a gun—build a silo."

That is the slogan being preached to Indiana farmers by M. Douglas, successful Matrock, Shelby county farmer, who is speaking to rural audiences at request of the Indiana council of defense.

"Never in the history of the country can a silo be built for as few bushels of corn as now," said Douglas. "A $250 silo can be built for less than 150 bushels of corn."

"The scarcity of wheat, the extra demand which will be made on the United States for export wheat and the high price of corn has caused the government to figure on a cheap feed for live stock thus releasing more corn for export, says Douglas. The silo answers the question best, in his opinion.

"The building of a silo is of great benefit both to the man and to the government from a money standpoint," Douglas said. "The State Council of Defense will reach every county in the state before September in order to tell of the many benefits which are derived from the use of silos.

"The Council of Defense wishes to see 5,000 silos built by fall. They really want to see twice that number built, but there are only 5,000 silos available." Douglas gave the following reasons why every farmer who keeps live stock should have a silo:

"The silo preserves the palatability and succulence of the green corn plant for winter feeding.

"It helps to make use of the entire corn plant.

"The silo increases the live stock capacity of the farm.

"Silage is a good summer food when pastures are short.

"Because of the small amount of ground space required by the silo, it is an economical means of storing forage.

"The silo prevents the waste of corn stalks, leaves and husks, which contain about two-fifths of the feeding value of the corn plant.

"The silo located near the feed manger is an assurance of having feed near at hand in stormy as well as fair weather.

"The silo assists in reducing the cost of grains in fattening cattle and sheep.

"Silage greatly increases the milk flow during the winter season and decreases the cost of production.

"There are no stalks to bother in the manure when corn is put into the silo."
